We can build to any configuration or size. In most cases, all you need to provide is the model numbers of your new and existing equipment. Every adapter we manufacture is designed with two very important issues in mind, integrity and performance. Making an adapter to fit one curb to another is easy, but you don't want to lose the performance your new equipment produces. We design each of our adapters to maintain optimal performance for the equipment it was built for and the integrity to easily support it. Please see page AC-3 for construction details.
